RIGHT CARE FOR THE SICK.

The New York World of August 3d records a victory in the courts of that state for the right of parents to have Christian Science treatment for their children.

In this case the parents and the practitioner were of that religious belief, and the child treated died of diphtheria, after an older child of the same family had been treated and recovered.

The parents and practicing Scientists were indicted for manslaughter in Westchester county, New York, and the courts held that parents had the right, within reasonable bounds, to decide what treatment be given their children in illness.

Certainly the parents loved their children more than their own lives, and to punish them, even if they made a mistake, would establish a dangerous precedent, and take away parental control and responsibility.

People who oppose bigotry in politics, religion or medicine should rejoice that this decision has been rendered, and the courts have upheld the right of parents to resort to prayer for the recovery of children.

X-RAYS

Sacajawea ought to be given a rest.

Seems like old times to see Uncle Tommy Davidson and Charley Riley on the streets.

C. C. Parker, an Albany merchant, calls himself the Misosurian in his advertisements, and is showing the other merchants how to do business.

If Astoria had to have a Sacajawea why didn't she dig up an aboriginal one, a genuine, middle-colored child of nature, instead of a hand-painted, kiln dried artificial one?

The Albany Democrat has a libel suit against Barnum & Bailey's circus for advertising their midjet as the smallest of the human race. But then they hadn't been to Albany yet.

Some people know when they have enough of anything. And now that Astoria is going to have a head-be-splashed Sacajawea at her regatta, the wise and the otherwise will remain faithfully away.

Superintendent Douglas has been removed from in charge of the Lin county exhibit, and a very live man, C. E. Roberts, secretary of the Albany Commercial Club, has been put in his place. Roberts is a man of some ideas.

It will be in order for the next legislature to change the assessment laws again. The last one changed the exemption law, and rapidly growing counties like Marion show reduction in assessed valuations. Great is the all-wise legislator.

The Lewis and Clark fair managers gave a reception to Governor Chamberlain last night at the Inside Inn for the Four Hundred. Of course, it was exclusively a Portland affair. Those fair managers cannot get over the idea that the fair is a local institution.

The 23d annual state convention of the Oregon Woman's Christian Temperance Union will be held at The Dallas October 3d to 6th.

Agonizing Burns.

Are instantly relieved and perfectly healed by Bucklen's Arnica Salve. C. Rivenbark, Jr., of Norfolk, Va., writes: "I burnt my knee dreadfully; that it blistered all over. Bucklen's Arnica Salve stopped the pain, and healed it without a scar." Also heals all wounds and sores. 25c at J. C. Perry's, Druggist, Salem Oregon.

Alpha Hall, the ladies' dormitory for O. A. C., will be open Friday, September 15th, on which date a reception will be held. The hall has been improved, and is one of the best equipped in the state. Tennis courts have been added, and the whole building has been renovated and furnished in a most homelike manner.

Robbery by Magic.

A very strange case has been filed by the police before the first class magistrate and mukhtyarkar of Hyderabad (Sind.)

Some time ago at the village of Chhato Machi lumps of clay began to drop from the ceilings of all the houses. No human agency could be detected, so the villagers concluded that it was the doing of evil spirits. The annoyance caused was so great that they left the village in a body and settled in the neighborhood.

After a few days a fakir was brought in who said he would drive out the genii, Lo! at the fakir's striking the roofs of some of the houses and some of the trees dried cocoanuts and sugar began to fall in abundance on the ground, which were distributed.

The fakir then directed that all the ornaments, cash, etc., in the village should be put in a grain stack and a vessel of water placed over the stack. He would then repeat certain incantations and pour libations toward the village and the spirits would take flight.

The fakir then distributed some sweets to all the people, men, women and children. In a few minutes all the people fell into a profound sleep which lasted about three days. The ornaments and cash were, of course, removed by the fakir, who has disappeared.—Lahore Tribune.

It Was All Over.

"No more will I hear his footsteps on yonder walk as the clock strikes the hour of 8."

"Gracious, Jeanette!"

"And the old parlor light will never burn low for him again."

"You don't mean it."

"I do, and, furthermore, he will never sit on this sofa three nights a week and call me pet names as he has been doing for two years."

"I am astonished."

"And tonight I am going to burn all the old love letters in my trunk."

"B—but why are you going to discard him?"

"Discard him? Why, you goose, I am going to marry him."—Columbus Dispatch.

Williamson Case Up Monday.

The Williamson case is expected to come up for investigation on Monday, until which time many of the witnesses who will appear have been excused. Ernest Starr, who created a sensation at the last trial by taking "French leave," and fleeing to the Cascade mountains, has not yet been discharged by the government from service, and is still held in Portland, where he is wanted both as a witness before the grand jury and in the coming Williamson trial.

About 86 witnesses have been summoned for the grand jury session, most of whom are in Portland. J. P. Allen, a Tillamook hotel keeper, is the latest addition to this force.

Further investigation of the land frauds in the Siletz reservation, implicating W. N. Jones, Thaddeus S. Potter and others, were interrupted this morning by the grand jury, which turned its attention to the alleged frauds in connection with public lands in Tillamook county. This case will continue all day, and the Jones indictment will be taken up tomorrow.

Kate E. Parker and John F. Watts, both of Portland, were witnesses before the grand jury this morning, and this afternoon John P. Allen, a hotel keeper of Tillamook, is before the jury. Watts is a well-known Portland lawyer.

The Sioux Indian baseball club will be in Albany in a few weeks to play several games with the local team there. They have traveled all over the United States, and are on their way to the fair now.

Dyspepsia

Don't think you can cure your dyspepsia in any other way than by strengthening and toning your stomach.

That is weak and incapable of performing its functions, probably because you have imposed upon it in one way or another over and over again.

You should take

Hood's Sarsaparilla

It strengthens and tones the stomach, and permanently cures dyspepsia and all stomach troubles. Accept no substitute.
